

Joseph "Joey" Dunn

Deputy City Manager, Community Services

City of Bryan

Joey Dunn has more than 31 years of experience in municipal government. Born in Virginia and raised in Alabama, he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Communications & Human Relations, with a minor in Music from Trevecca Nazarene University in Nashville, Tennessee. In 1991, Joey and his wife Leslie moved to Texas, where Joey attended graduate school in Architecture at Texas A&M University. In 1994, Joey obtained his Master of Urban Planning degree from Texas A&M University. Joey's municipal career began while still in graduate school in 1993 as a Historic Preservation Intern with the City of Bryan Main Street Project, involving efforts to begin the revitalization of Downtown Bryan. From 1994 through 2006, Joey held positions with the City of Bryan as well as the City of College Station as Director of Planning & Development Services during a time of significant growth and development. He returned to the City of Bryan in March 2006, where he has served for the past 18 years as Deputy City Manager for Community Services, overseeing a number of departments including Planning & Development Services, Economic Development, Coulter Airfield, Community Development, Library Services, and Special Projects. Joey serves as Region 7 Immediate Past President of the Texas City Managers Association (TCMA), and is a certified city planner with the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP). Joey serves as the City of Bryan liaison to the BCS Chamber of Commerce and Destination Bryan Board of Directors, and is responsible for staff support to over 13 municipal advisory boards and commissions. Joey is a long-time member of the Executive Committee of the Bryan-College Station Salvation Army Advisory Board. Joey and his wife, Leslie, now claim Bryan as their true hometown, and have four grown children, sons Chandler, Caleb and Conner, and daughter Claire.
